JIM HARVEY HERETAUNGA'S NEW CHAIRMAN

At their monthly meeting in August, Directors voted unanimously to elect Jim Harvey as the Society's new chairman.

Jim is a highly regarded valuer and principal of the valuation firm, Williams Harvey. Prior to setting up his valuation business, Jim was a principal of the real estate firm, Harveys. In the four years since his election to the Board, his background in real estate and expertise in valuations has proved invaluable.

CAUGHT ON CANDID CAMERA

It was great to have Noeline Black, wife of our late chairman, Gordon, with us at the Annual General Meeting in July, and to have her officiate in the cutting of the 75th Anniversary birthday cake. Earlier, acting chairman, Bryce Jones, had presented Noeline with a bouquet. It was the best-attended AGM for many years.

Directors at official launch

Heretaunga Directors, along with George Speedy, attended the official launch of the New Zealand Savings Institutions Association in the Grand Hall at Parliament Buildings. Dr Michael Cullen, and Ross Smith of the Southland Building Society were the featured speakers. The seven Building Societies in the new Association together have total assets of $5 billion, represent 300,000 New Zealanders and their families, and between them total 660 years of service to the community.

Still Popular

Three more of our members have received $100 petrol vouchers in our monthly 'lucky customer' draws. Even though the petrol price has dropped below $2.00, we still think these $100 petrol vouchers make very good prizes, and we plan to continue them for another three months.

New Director

Directors hope to announce within the next few weeks the appointment of a new Director. The new appointment will fill the vacancy following the death of Chairman, Gordon Black, and will bring the directorate up to full strength.
