Section 1 - KEY INFORMATION SUMMARY

WHAT IS THIS?

This is an offer of call and term redeemable shares. These call and term redeemable shares are debt securities issued by HBS. You give HBS money, and in return HBS promises to pay you interest and repay the money at the end of the term.

If HBS runs into financial trouble, you might lose some or all of the money you invested.

ABOUT HBS

HBS was established in 1933 and since that time has provided both saving services and loan services, including residential, commercial and rural mortgage finance, to its members and predominantly in the Hawkes Bay community. HBS's principal lending activity is the provision of finance for residential property secured by first ranking mortgages.

HBS is licensed by the Reserve Bank of New Zealand as a non-bank deposit taker.

GUARANTEE

The securities are not guaranteed by HBS or any other person. HBS is solely responsible for repayment.

HOW CAN YOU GET YOUR MONEY OUT EARLY

HBS's fixed rates of interest for a particular investment amount and term are based on the expectation the funds will be invested for the full term. While it is not expected that funds will be drawn before maturity, HBS accepts that clients' circumstances change and so will consider due to financial hardship, but is not obliged to accept, requests for early repayment of an investment.

If HBS agrees to make an early repayment of an investment, the interest rate payable in respect of the investment may be reduced by 2% per annum to reflect the reduced term of the investment. Any tax that has already been paid on the interest earned cannot be refunded and will have to be claimed from the IRD directly.

These redeemable shares cannot be sold to anyone else.

HOW HBS'S REDEEMABLE SHARES RANK FOR REPAYMENT

The securities being offered are unsecured redeemable shares, which on a liquidation rank equally with HBS's other redeemable shares and behind any secured creditors, any creditors given priority by law, and all unsecured creditors.

See also under the headings "Ranking of call redeemable shares on liquidation" in the tables at the beginning of Section 2 below, and under the heading "Ranking and security" at the beginning of Section 4 below.

NO SECURITY

The debt securities are unsecured.

WHERE YOU CAN FIND HERETAUNGA BUILDING SOCIETY'S FINANCIAL INFORMATION

The financial position and performance of HBS are essential to an assessment of HBS's ability to meet its obligations under the redeemable shares. You should also read the financial information section on page 11.

KEY RISKS AFFECTING THIS INVESTMENT

Investments in debt securities have risks. A key risk is that HBS does not meet its commitments to repay you or pay you interest (credit risk). Section 6 of the PDS (risks of investing) discusses the main factors that give rise to the risk. You should consider if the credit risk of these debt securities is suitable for you.

The interest rate risk for these redeemable shares should also reflect the degree of credit risk, in general, higher returns are demanded from investors from businesses with higher risk of defaulting on their commitments. You need to decide whether the offer is fair.

HBS considers that the most significant risk factors are:

Geographic Risk

HBS has a significant geographic concentration in the Hawkes Bay, both in terms of sourcing most of its funding and its lending activities. HBS is therefore dependent to a significant degree on the fortunes of the wider Hawkes Bay economy.

Credit risk

If a number of borrowers defaulted on their loan repayments around the same time, as a result HBS may then have insufficient funds to repay its redeemable shareholders or pay interest.

Liquidity Risk

Liquidity risk refers to the ability of HBS to meet its liabilities/debts when they fall due. HBS's ability to meet its payment obligations to depositors is connected to the loans it makes to borrowers and to HBS's reliance on deposits. If reinvestment rates or borrowers' repayments were to reduce materially, there is a risk that HBS may not have enough cash on hand at any time to repay depositors in a timely manner. This risk is mitigated by HBS's liquidity policies and by rules contained in HBS's Trust Deed, which require HBS to maintain certain minimum levels of liquid assets.

Interest rate risk

HBS's income is from the difference between what we pay to depositors and what we earn from borrowers and investments. In the event of a drop in interest rates, the interest rate we receive on surplus funds we have invested with NZ banks may be less than the amount we pay under the call and term redeemable shares, and could have a significant impact on the income we receive. If HBS has reduced income this may cause the interest rates that can be offered to depositors to decline.

This summary does not cover all the risks of investing in redeemable shares. You should also read Section 6 - Risks of Investing on page 12.

NO CREDIT RATING

HBS's creditworthiness has not been assessed by an approved rating agency.

HBS is exempt from the requirement to have its creditworthiness assessed by an approved rating agency. This is because HBS operates under the exemption contained in the Deposit Takers (Non-bank Deposit Takers (Credit Ratings Minimum Threshold) Exemption Amendment Notice 2020 which amends the Non-bank Deposit Takers (Credit Ratings Minimum Threshold) Exemption Notice 2016), which applies because:

- HBS's average consolidated liabilities as at the measurement date for that exemption year, are $20 million or more but less than $40 million, and
- HBS's capital ratio as at the measurement date for that exemption year is at least 12%.

The exemption is conditional on HBS providing to the Reserve Bank prior to March in each year, a statement by the directors that HBS meets the requirements of the exemption and that HBS will be operating on the basis of the exemption for that forthcoming year. Figures as per schedule A supporting the Director's statement for the Exemption Notice must be attached to this statement. The exemption is currently due to expire on 28 February 2025.

This means that HBS has not received an independent opinion of its capability and willingness to repay its debts from an approved source. As at the date of this Product Disclosure Statement, HBS complies with the requirements of the Deposit Takers (Credit Ratings Minimum Threshold) Exemption Notice 2016.

Section 3 - HBS AND WHAT IT DOES

HBS was established in 1933 and since that time has provided both saving services and loan services, including residential, commercial and rural mortgage finance, to its members and predominantly those in the Hawkes Bay community. HBS's principal lending activity and source of income is the provision of finance for residential property secured by first ranking mortgages over freehold property, and that is expected to continue to be the case.

HBS is incorporated under The Building Societies Act 1965, and is licensed as a non-bank deposit taker by the Reserve Bank of New Zealand. As such, HBS operates in the financial services industry, as also do banks and other non-bank deposit takers.

HBS's Board of Directors comprises a chair and three directors, all of whom are non –executive directors. The Board meets eleven times per year and more often when required.

The Risk Management Programme (RMP) sets out the policies, roles and responsibilities of those managing and accepting the risks identified and provides what HBS's Board of Directors considers to be a reasonable level of assurance of the achievement of operating objectives and regulatory compliance requirements.

HBS OPERATIONS AND ACTIVITIES

Loan application and loan assessment policies

All loan applications are subject to careful assessment by HBS and are approved in accordance with HBS's credit approval policy whereby all loans are approved by the directors. All loans are managed and reviewed on an on-going basis. Regular reports are prepared to monitor loan repayments in order to detect delays in repayments early and recovery action is undertaken promptly where appropriate.

Loans are made within defined loan-to-value ratios. HBS maintains a maximum loan to value ratio of 80% for lending on residential-based security, 60% for lending on commercial-based security and 50% for lending on rural-based security. At 31 March 2024, HBS's average loan to value ratios across each sector was 46% for residential, 23% for commercial and 27% for rural.

Loans are also made within defined repayment to income ratios.

Security

HBS has a lending policy that requires lending to always be secured by a first-ranking mortgage security over real property. The risk of losses from the loans undertaken is primarily reduced by the nature and quality of the security taken. HBS can enforce the security by disposing of the secured assets in the event of default.

The call and term redeemable shares are unsecured.

In the event of liquidation the call and term redeemable shares would rank equally with all other call and term redeemable shares and behind any creditors given priority by law, other creditors and any permitted prior security interests (of which there are none at the date of this PDS).

The HBS Trust Deed permits HBS to incur further liabilities which rank equally with or in priority to the call and term redeemable shares on liquidation, including as part of normal trading and by issuing further call and term redeemable shares.

HBS is also permitted under the Trust Deed to create security interests over HBS assets which may rank in priority above other liabilities, so long as the amount secured does not exceed 1% of HBS total tangible assets.

Section 5 - HBS FINANCIAL INFORMATION

HBS is required by law and its trust deed to meet certain financial requirements. This table shows how HBS is currently meeting those requirements. These are minimum requirements. Meeting them does not mean that HBS is safe. The section on specific risks relating to HBS's creditworthiness sets out risk factors that could cause its financial position to deteriorate. The Disclose register also contains a document titled "Quarterly Report" which provides a breakdown of how the figures in this table are calculated, as well as full financial statements.

KEY RATIOS

Minimum capital ratio required by the 2010 Regulations	12%	12%	12%
The capital ratio is a measure of the extent to which HBS is able to absorb losses without becoming insolvent. The lower the capital ratio, the fewer financial assets HBS has to absorb unexpected losses arising out of its business activities.

Liquidity requirements help to ensure that HBS has sufficient realisable assets on hand to pay its debts as they become due in the ordinary course of business. Failure to comply with liquidity requirements may mean that HBS is unable to repay investors on time, and may indicate other financial problems in its business.

Other Financial Covenants

The Trust Deed also requires HBS to comply with certain other financial covenants besides those which are referred to under “Key Ratios” above or elsewhere in this Product Disclosure Statement, including –

- a) HBS must not permit the total amount payable in cash over any half year as interest to exceed income actually received in cash over the same period from investments; and
- b) HBS must not Permit the aggregate of Total Secured Indebtedness and Total Unsecured Indebtedness owing to the Society, and the Total Listed Securities and the Total Unlisted Securities of the Society to exceed 15% of Total Tangible Assets

Besides the financial covenants outlined under “Key Ratios” above, further financial covenants are referred to under “Specific risks relating to HBS creditworthiness” in Section 6, immediately below.

Section 6 - RISKS OF INVESTING

GENERAL RISKS

Your investment is subject to the general risk that if HBS experiences significant losses through its lending, it may become insolvent and may not be able to meet its obligations to depositors to pay interest and to repay the principal amount of deposits.

The maximum risk you carry is the loss of your invested funds together with any interest owed to you because HBS is not able to repay you. However, in no circumstances will investors have any additional liability to HBS or to any person whatsoever.

SPECIFIC RISKS RELATING TO HBS CREDITWORTHINESS

The following is a description of the circumstances that HBS is aware of that exist or are likely to arise that significantly increase the risk that HBS may default on any of its payment obligations under the redeemable shares. The NBDT Act requires that we have and maintain a Risk Management Programme. Our risk management programme is in writing, is regularly reviewed, and sets out how we identify, analyse, evaluate, eliminate and/or mitigate risk. The principal risks that we face are: geographic concentration risk; loan default risk; liquidity risk and interest rate risk.

Geographic concentration risk

HBS has a significant geographic concentration in the Hawkes Bay, both in terms of sourcing the majority of its funding and its lending activities. HBS is therefore dependent to a significant degree on the fortunes of the wider Hawkes Bay economy. Should the Hawkes Bay region suffer an adverse event then HBS, and ultimately your Investment, could be adversely impacted.

Loan default risk

HBS lends money to a variety of customers. Loan default risk is the risk that if a material number of our borrower's default on their loan obligations there may be insufficient funds available to repay investors. This is a risk that is inherent to any lending institution. However, as noted in section 3 of this PDS (HBS and what it does), HBS employs a conservative lending policy to manage and mitigate this risk. This lending policy helps to ensure that any credit risk assumed by HBS falls within acceptable parameters:

- a. Loan to Valuation Ratios (LVR's) Retention of conservative LVR's:
 - Residential housing loans –80% LVR;
 - Commercial loans –60% LVR;
 - Rural loans –50% LVR;
- b. Debt servicing - Similarly to the LVR's, HBS adopts a conservative approach to debt servicing such that most borrowers contribute less than 1/3 of their gross household income to debt servicing.
- c. Credit history - Credit checks are undertaken on all new borrowers and if the result is a score lower than our usual lending criteria then an application is declined unless mitigating circumstances are present.
- d. Borrower concentration - HBS restricts its exposures to any one borrower or group of closely-related borrowers. The maximum advance to one borrower and secured on one security to be no greater than $1,500,000, however this limit can be exceeded if there are multiple securities.

Further details about the HBS Loan portfolio for prior financial years may be found in the notes to HBS's annual financial statements, which are available either under "Investor Centre" on HBS's website at www.heretaungabuildingsociety.co.nz, or alternatively in HBS's entries in the offer register at <https://disclose-register.companiesoffice.govt.nz/>

Liquidity Risk

Similar to virtually all financial institutions, HBS has a mismatch in the maturity profile of our available sources of funding and loans to customers. This mismatch arises in the ordinary course of business given that HBS is taking in short-term or on-call funding, while a major part of our lending to customers is in long-term residential mortgages. Liquidity risk is the risk that HBS may have insufficient funds or may not be able to raise sufficient funds at short notice, to meet our financial obligations as they fall due, including the repayment of your Investment. We manage liquidity risk on a daily basis and in a number of ways including:

- Monitoring the maturity profile for existing loans, Redeemable Shares and Deposits.
- Seeking to maintain diversity and stability in our retail funding base.
- Holding cash surpluses in the form of on call or liquid securities to ensure we retain immediate access to these funds.
- Maintaining strong bank relationships including access to committed standby funding lines for a period of at least 12 months forward.
 - Forecasting and managing our cash position so as to maintain cash surpluses where possible to minimise bank funding line utilisation.
 - Ensuring on-going compliance with Trust Deed and RBNZ NBDT liquidity requirements as set out in section 5 (HBS's Financial Information).

If there was a sustained decline in our ability to retain or attract new Redeemable Shares and Deposits or if access to our committed bank funding lines were not able to be renewed, this could result in increased liquidity pressure and could affect our ability to repay investors.

If the liquidity ratio was to reach 20% or less and it was not clear that this would correct itself within 7 days the Directors would immediately take action as outlined in the RMP.

Further details about HBS liquidity levels may be found in the notes to HBS's annual financial statements, which are available either under "Investor Centre" on HBS's website at www.heretaungabuildingsociety.co.nz, or alternatively in HBS's entries in the offer register at <https://disclose-register.companiesoffice.govt.nz/>.

Interest rate risk

HBS's income is from the difference between what we pay to depositors and what we earn from borrowers and investments. In the event of a drop in interest rates, the interest rate we receive on surplus funds we have invested with NZ registered banks may be less than the amount we pay under the call and term redeemable shares, and thus could have a significant impact on the income we receive. If HBS has reduced income this may cause the interest rates that can be offered to depositors to decline. This is mitigated by ensuring net interest rate gaps between HBS's financial assets and liabilities are not excessive. All interest rates are reviewed fortnightly at the operational level and monthly at the board level, and rates amended as necessary.

Section 7 – TAX

Under current New Zealand tax legislation, HBS must deduct resident withholding tax (RWT) from all interest payable before it is paid or credited to New Zealand-resident investors.

If an investor holds a current certificate of exemption and has given HBS a copy of that certificate, HBS will not deduct RWT.

The applicable RWT rates are available on the IRD website www.ird.co.nz. Please note that the IRD may instruct interest payers to change the RWT rate where the IRD determines the RWT rate is inconsistent with a client's marginal tax rate. If an investor does not provide their IRD number RWT will be deducted at 45%.

For investors who are not resident in New Zealand for tax purposes, HBS will deduct non-resident withholding tax (NRWT). The rate is currently 10% or 15%, depending on the country of residence.

There may be other tax consequences arising from acquiring or disposing of redeemable shares issued by HBS. If an investor has questions relating to the tax consequences of an investment, they should seek professional advice on those consequences.
